Chapter 1 by Iskiox

What is reality? According to the internet, it is "The world or the state of things as they actually exist, as opposed to an idealistic or notional idea of them."; but who're we to discern reality from nonexistence...Are the thoughts racing through my head not 'reality', just because they're not physical? Or is reality defined by a belief or knowing of something's existence? In that case, how is a schizophrenic's version of reality any different from mine? They believe, or rather 'know' they see or hear something, yet just because we cannot, we deem it as 'nonexistent', or just a figment of imagination...But what if we are the ones dreaming? What if these people we label 'insane' or 'unstable'...Are truly the only ones that can see through the fog.
